

Benjamin Muluka wrote this report about the Conference held at Kasaji

“Kasaji, a rural town located at more than 650km from Lubumbashi hosted a conference organized by CDLA from 20 to 22 June 2019 on the course Church Leadership.

987 people attended the conference from the 42 chapels that make up the Kasaji Station. For three days, for seven hours per day, the participants learned lessons followed by discussion in the workshops.

37 people publicly confessed their sins and re-committed themselves to live more fully for the Lord.

Note that some people walked on a long distances without any transport (up to 100km), in order to come and listen to the Word of God. Despite the fatigue, their participation was active in the interactions within the workshops.

All of them asked CDLA to come back with such teachings for all categories, men, women, youth and children of Sunday Schools.

Thank you for your support and your prayers.”

Pray for Ben who has been hit with a nasty belt of malaria.

Thanks
